My child is not allowed to participate in any of the school programs because we live in a different state. We are dual military and if my child were able to use the wonderful services offered on post then we would use the CDC and many other children's programs but because I have to have him in a Speech Therapy class near our home (18 miles from Post) I can't possibly take him back and forth and still be a Soldier. There should be exceptions when a post is so close to another state and you are dual military. There aren't many considerations for dual military. Although we are the first to hear about not being at work if we have to take so long to pick up a sick child.

I would like to see the hours more reflect the working hours on post. I think the gym needs to be opened by 0500 to facilitate a good work out prior to going to work. I would like to see the clubs get more active in pro sporting events and to remain open longer on the weekends. They cater to the civilian work force and their schedule and are not open for the military on the weekends.

The local trips and tours should be open on Saturday morning to support families going on local trips to amusement parks, Mexico, etc.

I would like to see an indoor roller skating rink opened up for the whole family.

I would like someone to build a frisbee golf course on post which even Army units could use for PT games as well as civilians or families to use any time.

The movie theater should show matinee movies on Saturday or Sunday instead of Sunday night because no one goes Sunday night.

I think that we pay too much for our lunches on WSMR. I can eat cheaper at Fort Bliss or WBAMC Hospital cafeteria.

I have the impression that golf/bowling pro-shops charge too much for their merchandise.

I would love to see a carwash facility that I didn't have to do it myself and kids were earning money to wash cars on post. I don't always feel like spraying down my own car especially at lunch time when wearing my uniform.

I think that the gym facilities, weightroom, racquetball courts, and altheletic programs are the best thing going on in MWR at WSMR. I think the Army's MWR facilities should spend more effort on using their websites to publicize activities and upcoming events. It would be great if they also publicized local off post events (if so I would even check it more frequently!). I like to know that my MWR office is in tune with off post activities and don't schedule conflicting programs so that we have to choose on vs. off post.

The professional development center on WSMR is an excellent new facility. Now that I am finished with my Master's degree, I haven't been using a library or development center, but I think they are important.

I use Fort Bliss and Biggs Army airfield facilities more than WSMR because I live in El Paso.

My kids go to school in El Paso, so I cannot use the MWR facilities or programs for the children. However, I did bring my kids up to WSMR for the Dog show sponsored by the Youth Center.

Child Care Service's are too expensive. I am an E-5 so it's obvious that I do not make all that much money. Why do I have to pay more than a fourth of my monthly salary for my daughter to go to all day Day Care (from 0730 - 1600) and my son to attend the C.Y.S for a few hours (usually from 1430 - 1600)? I can't afford that much income to be lost. I do it only because I have no choice. There isn't any other place I can take my children for child care unless I take them into town. Then I will be interfering with my military duty by having to come in later and leave earlier to take/pickup my children. So therefore the post has the upper hand in giving you no choice and making you have to settle with their outrageous price for child care. I feel that the Army or respective military branch should pay for the care of their personnel's children. Or make the services free. It would greatly increase the morale of all Sailors, Soldiers, and Airmen stationed here on this Post that have children and need to use these services.

Hello,

I am pretty much happy with what the post has ot offer. The prices at the Club are too HIGH!. If you were to ask around you would find that many people on post have stopped going there for lunch and dinner because of that reason. I feel that we could do so much more with the Club. Well, that is enough. Please have a super day.

Respectfully,

First - I think the MWR programs need a huge overhaul. The fitness center is in dire need of help. I would suggest tearing the one down now and rebuilding a brand new one. This is the worst fitness center I have ever used. Second - Lights on the track. many people use the track and if there were lights we could use it after dark. This would also play a role in MWR sponsored football games. The games are played on base and at the track. Without lights we were forced to play on Saturday - not good for morale. why aren't trips offered down to Mexico like Holloman AFB?

I have nothing against any of the services offered here on post. I'm sure there are many and they probably serve a great service to those living on post. I just do not live on post and therefore do not utilize any of the services. We are not given time in the middle of the day to participate in crafts/exercise/etc. And I am not willing to remain after my work hours. My husband is in the reserves, however any information/help comes from his unit, which is not here at White sands.

1. The pool can easily be adjusted to be at least 5 degrees warmer than what it is being kept at, year round. It also needs to be made available to at least the workforce 4 days per week year-round, not just during the Winter schedule. The Winter schedule needs to be adjusted to start later in the year and end earlier in the year since New Mexico has warmer temperatures and people could want to go to the pool well into what are the current Winter hours. 2. The food facilities need to be revised for "portion distortion" (mainly the blwoing alley). All menus should be adjusted post-wide to ensure that you are getting BOTH a fruit and a vegetable as part of a balanced meal. 3. The Youth Services and School Age Services building has way too much uncontrolled access for the kids to get junk food past 4:30 p.m. Even if parents aren't sending money, some kids end up buying junkfood for the otehr kids. 4. School Age Services needs to have better separation of the lower grades (e.g. 1st through 5th grade). The current situation where all ages can merge with each other is not good, and teaches the little ones way too much that they should not be learning or listening to. 5. Physical activity needs to be encouraged throughout the workforce at the command level, so that supervisors are lenient to allowing personnel to attend during their lunch hour the exercise facilities on post. Right now, the right to have PE 3 times per week is only avaialble tomilitary, and I think should be passed down to Civilians. Recently, the "Ergonomics" training given at TRAC flaunted that physical fitness was one of the key issues in achieving good ergonomics. But, when confronted with the the question to get written verification that Civilians can indeed get approval to have 3 hours of physical fitness scheduled into the work week like military personnel do, there was no reply from the guest speaker. The Bell Gym has no written memo to post stating that civilians can be taking advantage of the facilities on post for exercising during the work day. 6. The Post library needs to be opened past 1700 hours. Many children who come to school at WSMR live off post, and do extra-curricular activities. These children (in particualr the smaller ones who really still need naps and are probably sleep-deprived because of parents working 9-hour days) are way too tired when they get home to do homework at home. If the library was open in the evenings, parents could try to get homework done at the library before leaving post (and maybe even eating dinner on post as well increasing dining facility revenues). I know Youth Services has their "Power Hour". But YS is NOT the environment where any kid is really going to get any homework done. It's too loud and there are too many things going on at YS for kids to concentrate on doing their homework. being able to take your own child to the library to do homework with them before departing post is a much better option so that the kids don't do their homework half asleep.

I would like to see more organized tours to areas of interest close by, on and off post, as well or into specific areas of Mexico (we are close to the border).

I would like to see a book club organized.

I would like to see talks and lectures offered on post on historically and geographically significant events/locales on post and nearby. we have a number of such sites.

The movie theater here is circa 1950. We love to go to movies and would go to movies on post if the facilities were upgraded and maintained.

I think that MWR should take over the Post stables. Currently they are run by a private organization; they are in a state of terrible disrepair and are unsafe, and the organization is unfriendly and not outgoing to Post newcomers and residents.

I would like to see less emphasis on the golf course so that perhaps some funds could be freed up for other MWR programs that might benefit a wider segment of the population.

Everything is great on post except for the fact that the "LEAN Team" is trying to make the civil service more efficient. It wasn't a problem until they started proposing changes that puts us workers in danger of safety violations. If they would just listen to us and propose practical suggestions instead of trying new procedures that doesn't save money or time. This is pretty typical of new Generals coming in command thinking they know how we operate procedures at WSMR when in fact they dont! It is just the good old game of "politics" where one makes themself look good to the hierarchy and they basically screw the little men or "grunts" in the process!

Thanks for your time.

1. The director of MWR, Ed Alyesowrth was great. So is Dennis Dekker, the new acting director. They have a strong drive toward customer service within and to the community. It is great to walk into an MWR facility and see the director there. It shows they care about the services they provide.
2. Arts and crafts center has a huge frame shop that people arent allowed to use. I think that with proof of picture framing certification, people should be allowed to use equipment (mat cutters, dry mounting machines, etc) Picture framing is very expensive to the Army, and costs could be cut if these facilities were available.
3. Child development services here is great. I have an infant who is in daycare for 10 hours a day and she is doing very well. It seems that the staff is sometimes overworked and undermanned. In the area of childcare, I think childcare providers should be aloowed more time to "catch their breath" so they dont become inpatient with the children. They should always have one extra person in the room, and not have to push the limits/rules of providers to children ratio.

There needs to be updated programs offered. The golf course is adequate, but will never be a money maker due to distance from other facilities. Shooting ranges need to be made more available, and the library is in serious need of upgrading and ability to purchase material. Current usage is minimal due to inadequate material, and small amount of purchases to acquire new material.

Unless MWR offers classes/events at lunch time or during the duty day, it is very difficult for the civilians who commute from Las Cruces, Alamogordo, or El Paso to participate. TRAC has also started NOT sending the emails about Post events; our personnel section posts them to a public folder that most of us forget about...so I believe there is decreased participation by the civilian workforce at TRAC.

Just a comment. I am the Army Community Service Officer at my installation. Under the ACS section there was no question pertaining to the Army Volunteer Corp Program which is an ACS program. My installation has a very active volunteer program and I feel we are missing valuable feedback by not having a question pertaining to the volunteer program.

Otherwise, one of the best surveys I've completed in quite awhile.

Overall Comment

I have noticed since notification of the privatization of housing that many of the MWR facilities are seeing a loss of customers. Since many of the civilians who were living on post have moved off post, they are no longer available to use many of the services. I fear we will lose many of the great services on post. The personnel at all MWR services have always been polite and very helpful. I would hate to lose anyone due to the cut back that I am sure are coming since there are so many vacant houses. Once this privatization of housing has gone through I fear many more residents will move off post due to the very strict rules that have been introduced by the GMH contractor. Which will have an even great effect on the MWR facilities.

Since town is over 45 minutes away, it is hard to afford the gas to come out to use the facilities on the weekends. Which is really the only time I can use many of the facilities due to my work schedule. The only real facilities I use daily is the food services. However, when there are special events i.e. circus, balls, golf tournaments, tours, etc., I will do not concern myself with the cost of gas and feel that I am getting the most for my buck at these events. If more of these types of events were held, I would come out on the weekends more often.

I have worked at White Sands Missile Range (WSMR) as active duty military for 5 years followed by 21 years of civil service. The important facilities at WSMR are the gym, education centers, arts & crafts shop, the officers club (now combined with the NCO and enlisted clubs as the "community club") the automotive shop, golf course and pro shop, the bowling center, youth activities and the several tennis courts. I did not use most of these facilities while on active duty and living on post ... as a civilian living in Las Cruces some 28 miles to the west, I worked there but did not use the facilities.

The only service I consistently use at WSMR is the barber shop ... it is cheaper to drive 60 miles round trip and pay $6 for a haircut (where the barber understands what I mean when I say "medium close") than it is to get a haircut in Las Cruces.

I was active duty at WSMR during 1975-1979 and civilian employee 1970-2000. WSMR is considered an "isolated installation" because the nearest town (Las Cruces) is 28 miles distant. Because it is isolated there are "extra" services not found on installations closer to civilian population centers. I have yet to figure out what those extra services are. Yet, what is provided on-post is essential for the soldiers and families living on-post. Even when I lived on post a weekly "night out" with the wife and family was not at the officers' club but was spent in Las Cruces or El Paso. The food service then as it is now is just not the quality that is available off post even if 28 miles distant.

Neither my wife nor I have any inclination to shop the PX and Commissary ... nice physical plants but almost all prices can be beat in town without selective shopping for discounts ... lack of variety is what kills the inclination to shop the PX and Commissary ... they are not that much cheaper (if at all) than Las Cruces.

Oh, I almost forgot. You asked about making arrangements for travel with the installation travel office. You can forget that option, not applicable, because the contractual arrangements of the WSMR travel office specifically preclude making arrangements for personal travel. Before the embargo on personal travel arrangements, we used to use them all of the time ... with the embargo, we use a commercial travel agency in Las Cruces. Just another erosion of so called "benefits" available to the service member and retiree.

One more "last thing" While you did not provide the option and you tried to separate them, I consider the snack bars and pro shops at both the bowling alleys and golf courses as an essential part of those operations. If you drop either from those operations the overall operation will suffer ... I am not sure how you can separate them as both materially add to the primary operation (bowling or golfing). In the few times I wanted a hamburger on weekends while on active duty or later reserve duty (duty station was the WSMR Education Center) I would use these services in preference to the "community club."

I think you picked the wrong person!

Most of the activities listed in the survey really don't apply to me at my age. I am quite active, but neither Ft. Bliss nor WSMR is close enough to my home to make participation relatively easy.

I do think that the services being offered are certainly worth while for anyone living on or near any Post. I have a feeling that my responses will be very different from what you receive for younger, or people who live closer to a Post.

It was most interesting to learn what is now being offered on Posts.

I would like to see the services for travel reservations enhanced to the point that they were more readily available. This would encourage more travel and use of MWR services, such as, the Hale Koa Hotel in Hawaii. Sometimes it is difficult to get the information and/or to make arrangements to use these services.

I am retired and we use the commissary, PX, and McAfee Health Clinic at WSM on a regular basis. We do not use the MWR facilities offered since all our needs in this area are met by the local services available in Las Cruces. However, having lived on-post most of my 26 years of active duty, I found the MWR services to be a valuable asset to me and my family and I strongly support all efforts to keep it responsive to the active duty and retired community.

It was bias in my answers due to the fact that I now reside off post and drive in to work then usally leave soon after.
 When I was stationed here, I wish I would have known more about the oppurtunities MWR is offering. I am still very interested in knowing what apply's to me as a civilian separated from military service for medical under Honorable conditions.
 What I may suggest is to allow all employee's from WSMR the prevledge of buying at the WSMR Commissary during the work week with valid employee ID. It would keep the commissary open and more members employed. I especially feel that anyone who has served in the United States Military for 10 plus years and was separated due to medical conditions encurred during the line of duty, should be intitled to full commissary and PX privledges without bias or restrictions.

The post is too far for my MWR services utilization. Our community is larger than the post and offers far more activities than the post. Further, I am about 45 minutes from an even larger city offering more than my community. WSMR needs the MWR for the people who live on the post, but other than golf, probably will not attract many from the off post area because of mileage and greater offerings in their communities.

While I work on post, we live over 20 mile away and do not come out to White Sands Missile Range very often on off days.

We had a son attending middle school at WSMR from 1998 to 2001. The youth activities is the best thing that ever happened to him. The professionals who ran the program were caring, involved and well trained to cope with the problems that youngsters and teens present. His personality was forever partially sculpted as a result of the programs here, and I mean in a positive way.

This is a small post with few military assigned. The programs offered here are used regularly by the residents of the post and I do not hear many negative comments.

I feel that MWR services on this installation are crucial because of its geographical location. My children and I have really appreciated and enjoyed many of the activities that have been offered here as well as the staff and installation deserve kudos for all that they have done to add to the quality of life of this tour of duty. We have never had a dull moment or been bored while living here. The post library (among other facilities on post) has been a God send for both the kids and myself. We have enjoyed the arts and crafts centre, the movie theatre, the child centred activities, club and base functions, Bataan Memorial March, the gymnasium classes, etc... I make a concerted effort to use or take advantage of the on post facilities/opportunities first before going into town. That is my choice and preference. I have been involved in the military system for well over 20 years as both family member and active duty service member stateside and overseas. I will miss these aspects of life on WSMR when we PCS to our next duty station and will carry with me fond memories of the unique lifestyle and special character of this duty post when we leave.

With appreciation and many thanks for all of the hard work and opportunities you have given us.
Respectfully submitted,

I really appreciate the gym and the pool and their staff! I would like to see the gym have better and larger facilities and newer equipment. I would also like to have family members of active duty military and active duty military to have no fees to use the pool or to have specific hours that are free. In the summer, going to the pool 4-5 days per week for a family of 4 costs: $64-$80 which is a substantial amount of money for families on 1 income active duty E-5 family.
